

The Three Annual Processes In DART Network Organizations

DART organizations go through an annual cycle of three processes: Listening, Research to Action, and Support Drive. During the Listening Process, leaders strengthen networks and identify community problems through 1-1s or house meetings, then vote priorities at the Community Problems Assembly. In the Research to Action Process, leaders identify solutions to the problems, test networks, and secure commitments from officials to implement the solutions at a Nehemiah Action. Finally, during the Support Drive Process, each organization focuses on building the power of the organization through raising its own funds.
